Keep in mind that your advisor will have enforce this requirement since students can't have access to everyone's GPA info. The club advisor will have to submit requests through the proper channels to maintain this rule. Just something to consider.

Since this is an MCC student organization, University Center students cannot hold officer positions or vote. They can be active members and participate at club events, but their membership status is different from MCC students because they are enrolled at an outside college with different sets of rules & policies. Also, the GPA requirement mentioned in the previous section cannot be enforced with them since MCC employees won't have access to their academic records.

Please replace with "college policy"

Please remove. While Student Life can assist with any questions and enforcing policy, it is not up to the college to provide a faculty advisor for any student clubs and organizations. That responsibility falls to the students within the organization find a replacement. Failure to have an advisor for a club will result in the club falling into inactive status until a new advisor can take over. During that time, any club events will be put on hold or canceled.
